As Mullanbarger enters an 11th meeting of the Freebird Society in 1987, he and 100 of the 120 members in Madison are pleased to applaud the under-represented presence in the Illinois legislature of the hard laborer of the past day and the under-represented African American farmer of the future. The two groups are talking things up and the line is long.

No. 445.—

[Short-reefing of yarn—Protection of offenders]

In a Press Communication issued in 1904, the Government drew the attention of the spinning mills and dealers in cotton yarn to the provisions of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act and the rules framed thereunder. Spinning mills were warned that the practice of short-reefing of skeins or of reducing the length contained in a hank and the substitution of yarn of a coarser count than that marked on the bundle would amount to a "false trade description" and would make them responsible for it liable to prosecution under section 6 of the Act. Dealers in yarn were also warned that they should see that the correct count is marked on the label of each bundle before yarn is sold to traders, otherwise they should become liable under section 7 of the Act. Again in a Press Communication issued in November 1906, it was pointed out to the spinning mills that the word "hank" is taken to mean in lay or grey yarn a measure of 840 yards and is a "trade description" of that measure and that persons only and that any deflection beyond the limits of variance in the standard length as allowed in the rules, if deliberate, would attract the mischief of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act and of the Indian Penal Code. At the instance of some of the yarn manufacturing mills which raised a doubt whether the making up of bundles into 5 and 10 lb. is imperative or whether it is permissible to make bundles of varying weight and whether under the existing provisions variance from the British Standard limit of 840 yards is permissible, it was pointed out in the Press Communication issued in February 1908, that yarn is ordinarily made up in 5 or 10 lb. bundles containing a certain number of hanks and that the statutory length of the hank is 840 yards. Attention was also drawn to the fact that the standard measure for yarn is the relation of length to weight which is known as the count, that the yard of count is 1 hank to 1 lb. and that a count is the number of hanks of 840 yards required to make up a pound weight of yarn. The trade was once more warned to note clearly that the units are the hanks and the count and therefore that in the making up of yarn in bundles, the number of hanks and count should have a definite relationship to the count and weight and that any variance from the statutory length of the hank, except as provided for in the rules under the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, would be a false trade description.

These warnings have not had the desired effect. Complaints have been received that certain mills have continued to produce and market short-reefed yarn and that these articles have been causing hardship to those mills which are strictly adhering to the provisions of the law. In order to enforce a uniform standard in the market both as to the hank and weight and the honest yarn manufacturer the Government have decided to take such steps as are open to them to check the malpractices complained of. They have accordingly ordered the Director of Industries to launch prosecutions against those who offend the provisions of the law in this regard. The Government trust that these steps will cease at once.

MIDLAND COMMERCE REPORT FOR THE MONTH OF JULY 1938.

The improvement in world commodity prices which had commenced in July during June, continued in July, but there were some signs that the end of the month took the first stage of the upward movement was being to an end. There was certainly some rise down of business moving to the United States during the month, several sections of business activity exhibiting a rise, much of manufactured goods showing a steady reduction, and declining the first week reaching the highest level for the year. And although it may be said that the statistical rise down of recovery is in yet lower and deeper, and it is too early to say whether there is any real advance in the apparent recovery movement, it would appear that the increase of commodities, especially in the United States, reached such a level that the Government's export policy, should lead to some industrial revival, which the present of discharging which, was the first stage of the recovery seems to be about over. There are a definite revival of business confidence in the United States in July and this in comparison with the same financial economic background may indicate in being about substantial economic recovery in the United States, though how long this recovery will last, it is not possible to predict with any degree of accuracy. There was some improvement in values of commodities in which Midland is interested during the month, especially in the United States, cotton prices in New York and London during the month were of moderate increase. The first Government forecast of the average planned output for the United States during the month was in accordance with expectations and having therefore no effect on the market. Prices at Liverpool cotton received a little, but prices at all centres of Canadian cotton rose. There was particularly an increase in values of Canadian cotton and Western. The demand for Indian and China increased at about the same level as in the previous month and the market was still characterized by some uncertainty. A steady improvement was seen in the United States cotton during the month and some advance, in some cases by as much as a penny per pound. The standard price which was in evidence in the United States and Indian cotton markets at the end of June was maintained during July and prices for short staples recovered a little. The greatest market index firm during the greater part of July, but there was little alteration in closing prices. The public and some markets were fairly steady. The paper market was more at the beginning of the month, closed down, and was at an upward movement during the month. The United States market showed a steady rise. The United States market was weak throughout the month, with the exception of a few days, and showed a steady decline. The United States market was steady in the middle, but the United States market was weak at the end of the month. Prices of sugar in the United States market were steady and closed down with a better recovery. The demand for Indian and China cotton was steady and closed down with a better recovery. GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 15th August 1935:—

L.A. BILL No. 16 OF 1935.

4. To further amend the Indian Tea Tax Act, 1930, for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Tea Tax Act, 1930, for the purpose aforesaid; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Tea Tax (Amendment) Act, 1935.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

ENACTED

Amendment of section 4, Act
15 of 1905.

3. In sub-section (3) of section 4 of the Indian Tax Act, 1905,— (13 of 1905)
(a) for the word "twenty-eight" the word "twenty-nine" shall be substituted;
(b) in clause (a), the word "and," where it occurs at the end of the clause, shall be omitted; and
(c) after clause (d) the following clause shall be added, namely:—
"(e) save as the Commissioner of the Treasury Government is empowered by the provisions of the Act."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Government of Transvaal lay out in the proposed Indian Tax Bill of the same year as then living in British India and, as the provisions of the Indian Tax Market Regulation Bill, then passed as an amend to the Indian Tax Market Regulation Bill, contain a separate representation of Transvaal tax matters. The object of the Bill is to amend the Indian Tax Act, 1905, so as to provide for separate representation of tax matters of Transvaal on the Indian Tax Market Regulation Bill.

EDWARD J. KRAK.

State,
The 21st August 1906.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 18th August 1906:—

L.A. BILL, No. 27 OF 1906

A Bill to regulate the employment of children in certain industrial establishments.

Whereas it is expedient to regulate the employment of children in certain industrial establishments, it is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Employment of Children Act, 1906.
(2) It extends to the whole of British India.
2. In this Act "competent authority" in respect of a major port, as defined in the Indian Ports Act, 1905, and in respect of a railway, as defined in the Indian Railways Act, 1905, means the Central Government, and in any other case means the Provincial Government.
3. (a) No child who has not completed his thirteenth year shall be employed or permitted to work in any occupation connected with the transport of passengers, goods or mails by railway.
(b) No child who has not completed his thirteenth year shall be employed or permitted to work in any occupation involving the handling of goods within the limits of any port in which for the time being any of the provisions of the Indian Ports Act, 1905, are applicable.
4. Whoever employs any child or permits any child to work in contravention of the provisions of section 2 or section 3 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.
5. (1) No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted except by or with the previous sanction of an officer appointed under section 2.
(2) No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted in any case where either the employer of a child or the child himself has obtained a certificate from an authority empowered under this Act to grant such certificate that the child has completed his thirteenth or fourteenth year, as the case may be.
(3) Any officer inferior to that of a Provincial Magistrate or a Member of the Executive Council shall not be empowered under this Act.
6. The competent authority may appoint persons to be inspectors for the purposes of enforcing, maintaining and the provisions of this Act, and all inspectors so appointed shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.
7. (1) The competent authority may by notification in the official Gazette (and subject to the sanction of previous sanction) may make rules for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) the purchase and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) regulate the proceeds of seizures appearing under section 8,

and

(b) make provision for the grant of certificates of age in respect of young persons in employment or pending employment, the authorities which may issue such certificates, the charges which may be made thereon, and the manner in which such certificates may be issued.

3. Subsection (2) of section 3 of the Indian Ports Act, 1908, and the Amendment of 1924, in so far as it relates to the issue of certificates of age, shall be omitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Twenty-third Session of the International Labour Conference adopted a Convention in which a special Article for India was inserted, fixing the minimum age at which children may be employed or may work in the transport of passengers, goods or mails, by rail, or in the handling of goods at docks, wharves or quays, at 15 years. This Bill provides for prohibiting the employment of children under 15 in occupation connected with the transport of goods, passengers or mails by railways, and for raising the minimum age for handling goods at docks from 12, the age fixed by section 2 (1) of the Indian Ports Act, 1908, to 15, the age recommended by the Royal Commission on Labour. A simple provision enabling employers to safeguard themselves against infringements of the Act by forwarding statements to the appropriate authorities for employment in person, certificate of age, as provided in the Bill.

SAPPHIRAM KHAN.

Attorn.

The 4th August 1936.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th August 1936:—

S.A. BILL No. 18 OF 1936.

4 Bill to declare that certain definitions shall not be used in rules for demerits in British India in respect of events connected with workmen.

Whereas it is expedient to declare that certain definitions shall not be used in rules for demerits in British India in respect of persons employed by workmen; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Employees' Liability Act, 1936.

Enacted

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant to the subject or substance, except:—

(a) "workman" means any person who has entered into, or works under a contract of service or apprenticeship with an employer whether by way of manual labour, clerical work or otherwise, and whether the contract is expressed or implied, oral or in writing, and

(b) "employer" includes any body of persons whether incorporated or not and any managing agent or an architect and the legal representatives of a deceased employer, and where the services of a workman are temporarily lost, or he is on leave to another person by the person with whom the workman has entered into a contract of service or apprenticeship, means such other person while the workman is working for him.

3. Where pecuniary injury is caused to a workman:—

(a) by reason of the omission of the employer to maintain in good and safe condition any work, machine, machinery or plant maintained with or used on his trade or business, or by reason of any false statement on the part of any person in the service of the employer who has been entrusted by the employer with the duty of seeing that such work, work, machinery or plant are in good and safe condition; or

(b) to the knowledge of any person in the service of the employer who has any supervisory functions in respect of the work of the employee; or

(c) to the reason of the negligence of any person in the service of the employer in whose orders or directions the workman at the time of the injury was bound to act, and the employer, where the injury resulted from his having so ordered; or

(d) to reason of any act or omission of any person in the service of the employer done or made or withheld in any rule or regulation of the employer (not being a rule or regulation which is required by or under any law for the time being in force to be approved by any authority and which has been so approved) or in compliance to particular instructions given to any person in whom the employer has delegated authority in that behalf;

8. With the damages in respect of the injury suffered by the workman or by any person entitled in respect of his death shall not be taken into account the fact that the workman was at the time of the injury a workman of, or in the service of, or engaged in the work of, the employer;

9. In any such suit for damages the workman shall not be deemed to have undertaken any risk attending the employment when the employer proves that the risk was fully understood by the workman and that the workman voluntarily undertook the same.

10. Nothing in this Act shall affect the validity of any decree or order of a civil Court passed before the commencement of this Act in respect of suit for damages.

STATEMENT OF DEFECTS AND DEFENSES.

Under the common law of England, in civil suits for damages for injuries sustained by workmen it is open to the employer to plead—

(1) the defense of common employment, to which the employer is not normally liable for any damages to a workman for an injury resulting from the duties of another workman;

(2) the defense of assumed duty, by which an employee is presumed to have accepted a risk, if it is such that, he ought to have known it to be part of the work of his employment.

3. The Royal Commission on Labour regarded both these defenses as inequitable and recommended by a majority that a measure should be enacted abolishing these defenses. Provisional Decisions were announced in 1927 and were almost unanimously in favour of abolition for the purpose. In the numerous judicial decisions in which they were generally agreed up to the abolishment of the defenses have been such as to leave it open to employers to meet workmen on their grounds in these. The Bill seeks to abolish these defenses in the case of all workmen.
